I hope you enjoy adding this little sample collection of my digital designs and painted papers to your creative practice.

Here are a few ideas:

- Add color or paint to the black-and-white images—or use them just as they are. It’s entirely up to you.
- Tear the papers and use them in a collage, journal, or sketchbook.
- Take a closer look at the marks I’ve made. Then try making your own and see what happens when you do something different from what you usually do.

There is no way to do this wrong. It’s all about playing, experimenting, and learning to find your own way.

Terms of Use

These digital papers and creative elements are a gift for you to enjoy in your own art and creative projects.

You may:

- Print and use them in personal projects.
- Use them in handmade artwork, journals, cards, tags, and other physical creations.
- Sell physical items you have personally created using these materials as part of your finished design.

Please do not:

- Sell, share, give away, or redistribute the digital files.
- Include the files in another digital collection or download.
- Sell printed sheets or individual elements as supplies.
- Reproduce the designs as-is for commercial or mass-produced products.

Please create something new with them rather than reselling the papers or elements themselves.
